Items for Board Discussion:

7a.) Investment Review – We don't have any bonds expiring until June 2024, according to Brian Cassidy of Cassidy Financial Services, LLC, who reviewed our portfolio bond report. In his general economic update, he mentioned that interest rates have somewhat decreased for bonds with maturities of five years and longer. When it's time to make an investment, they will advise the board and keep an eye on the money market accounts. He answered questions at this point and gave Mr. Shaw an explanation of our current portfolio's yield to maturity. The advantages and disadvantages of investing in preferred stocks vs premium corporate bonds were also covered. Mr. Goodman inquired about high risk vs. reward from Kevin Madok, the Monroe County Clerk of Court. According to Mr. Madok, safety and principle are the main priorities while using public funds. Mr. Cassidy recommended reviewing the interest rates next year and then deciding the appropriate way to continue investing the money.

Good of the Order: Mr. Goodman asked if the elected employees have liability insurance. Dirk Smits advised he will send an email and let them know if they are covered. The next meeting will take place in January.

There being no further business to come before the Committee, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Jill Cranney, Chairman of the OPEB Board

Andrea Leal, Executive Director
